The hearth is blazing with a warmth and a glow; Hot popcorn is heaped in a bottomless bowl.

Faces are animated by conversational tides; Imaginations soar and dip, like amusement park rides.

Thoughts are exchanged, both profound and in pun, For all here are friends and may join in the fun.

Friendship is the wealth that sets men apart, For it proves strength of mind and a goodness of heart.

Here are dreams born that shall widen in scope; Where man lives without dreams, there is life without hope.

There are, then, two things which must be kept near: These friendships and these dreams, may they ever be dear!

The warmth and glow of a blazing hearth and the aroma of freshly popped corn (topped with melted butter) have been the symbols of hospitality, convivality, and companionship for untold generations. In addition to these tangibles there must also be added the murmur of an idea passing from one mind to another. Undoubtedly this undertone is broken, now and again, by gentle laughter, or the sputtering of the logs, or the quiet refrain of well-known music. With the inclusion of people who exchange opinions and views in mutual respect for others as individuals, and who accept others for what they are, we have a reasonable picture of Friendship.

It is then mete and proper that the yearbook of a university, the tradition of which is Friendship, be prefaced with a graphic and verbal portrait of Friendship. Many newcomers and casual visitors are struck more forcibly by our tradition of Friendship than by our facilities; many who have left remember the friends and friendships that began here longer than they remember the brickwork.

It is the hope of the Index staff that the pages which follow will always remind you of the friends, friendships, dreams, and ideals found at a place where they sing ". . . Hail ISNU!"

Raymond W. Fairchild, President Emeritus A.B., A.M., University of Michigan; Ph.D., Northwestern University; LL.D., Illinois Wesleyan University; University of Illinois; University of Chicago.

Dedication The theme of the 1956 Index is Friendship; it follows then that this issue should be dedicated to a Friend of the University.

Dr. Raymond W. Fairchild in more than a score of years as head of ISNU became a part of the University as surely as the University became a reflection of the man. A man of great stature, President Fairchild fashioned a University—and the reputation of that University—that could be recognized from afar as easily as he himself could be singled out of a crowd. All things were given to Dr. Fairchild in large measurcs; thus his vision and dedication are manifested in a progressing institution. As President of ISNU, Dr. Fairchild was responsible for (among other things) Fairchild Hall, the Administration Building, the Student Union, the County Contact Program, and the County Alumni Program. Each of these projects is a tribute to his ability to foresee ISNU's role in and responsibilities toward the profession to which the University and the man are dedicated.

His belief in the school and its mission was responsible for one of the finest special education curriculums and buildings of their kind. The sincerity of his interest in ISNU brought President Fairchild onto McCormick Field to address the crowds in the cruelest of weather. This same characteristic led him to a traveling team's bus to see them off with a word of encouragement.

The selflessness of President Fairchild has become legendary. A light in his office after a basketball game which he had attended, or a football game, or a Sunday afternoon tea was not uncommon. Dr. Fairchild's prodigious ability to remember names has been attributed to his keen interest in people. Once, while visiting an injured athlete who was semi-conscious, the President was identified by the boy as "someone who had something to do with the University."

Dr. Fairchild's resignation was accepted by the Teachers College Board with these words: "Someone has said that 'a university is but the lengthened shadow of a great man.' Perhaps so! If that be true, his shadow will be long enduring, enviable, and precious in the field and to this university."

In an effort at least to recognize the direct and indirect debt that the University, students and faculty alike, owes to him, we dedicate this volume of the Index to Raymond W. Fairchild.

President Fairchild, his head bared to the elements, exemplified a school spirit graced with dignity.

Dr. Fairchild was in constant communication with alumni groups the length and breadth of the state through his County Alumni Program.

On Graduation Day it obviously pleased President Fairchild to award each graduate his degree and to shake his hand in congratulation.

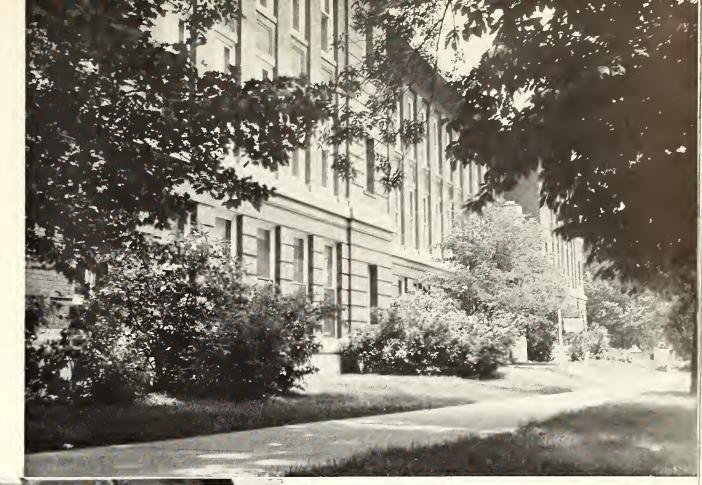

Whether a graduate or an undergraduate, the ambitious student spends much of his time in the well equipped Milner Library. He may at times wish to relax in the Browsing Room or hear the best in music in the Carnegie Room.

Scenic campus

The Administration Building is one of the newest buildings on campus. It houses the offices of the president, the deans of men and women, and all other administrative personnel, in addition to the Bureau of Appointments, Alumni headquarters, and a faculty lounge.

Metcalf Training School provides instruction for children and pupils from kindergarten through high school. Many students of senior status do their practice teaching either in the Metcalf Elementary School or in the University High School.

Sprawling acres of pasture and productive soil identify the University Farm. Visitors are always welcome to tour the grounds and note the modern methods and equipment used. The farm offers practical experience to students interested in agriculture.

The Industrial Arts Building houses the department of Art, Home Economics, and Industrial Arts. Capen Auditorium, with its more than a thousand plush seats, is located in this building, too.

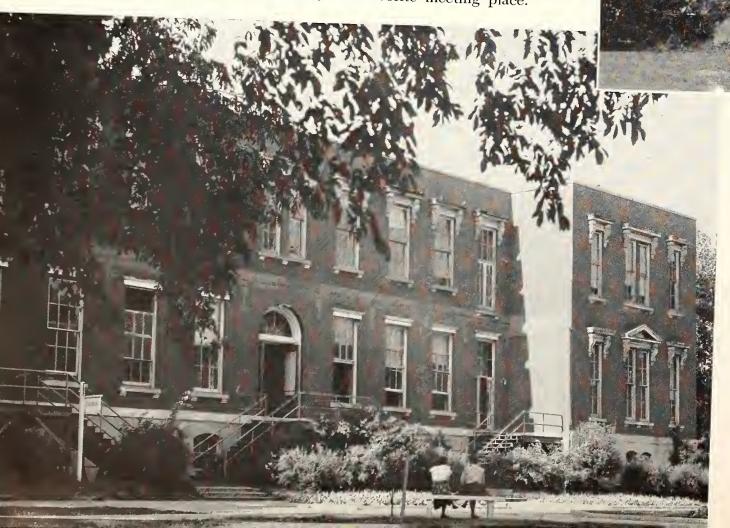

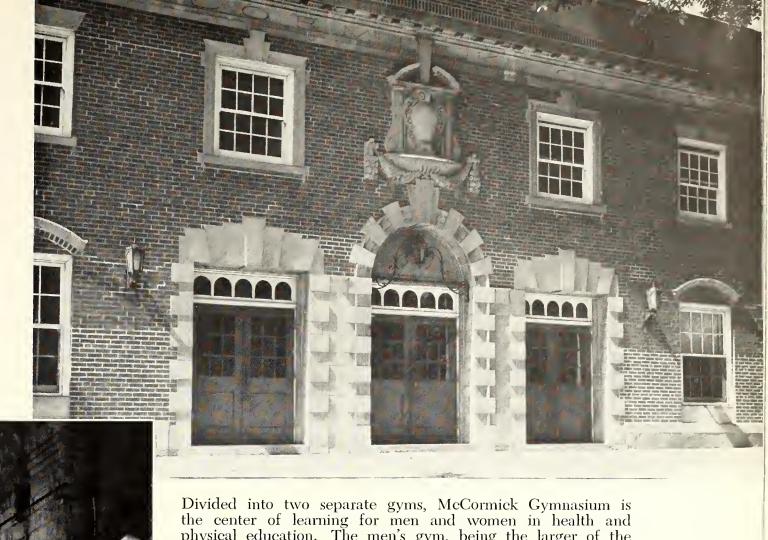

The second oldest building on campus, North Hall houses the English and Geography Departments. Sharing the upper floor are the Index and the Vidette offices, and in the basement art students concentrate on creative activity.

Located behind the Metcalf Training School, the Felmley Hall of Science contains three floors of classrooms and laboratories complete with cadavers. Here the students of the natural sciences find challenge and knowledge.

For nearly a century Old Main has been the principal class-room building. Music, social science, foreign languages, education, mathematics, and speech classes are held here. Four Corners, on the main floor, is a favorite meeting place.

HALL OF SCIENCE

the center of learning for men and women in health and physical education. The men's gym, being the larger of the two, accommodates all indoor sports events.

Cook Hall is the home of the Business Education Department. The building also contains a gymnasium, a music room, several practice rooms, and, in the tower, the campus radio studios.

The most modern classroom building on campus is Fairchild Hall. It provides the latest in equipment for physically handicapped and mentally retarded pupils and for special education majors. The University Health Center and infirmary are found here.

COOK HALL

Walker Hall

Singing those "washday blues" are Billye Obst, Barbara Bethard, Marilyn Cronic, and Janice Anderson of Walker Hall, but the smiles indicate it's no job at all with new automatic washers.

Our newest arrival on campus is Walker Hall. At the Founder's Day Dinner on February 23, Acting President Arthur H. Larsen accepted the hall on behalf of the University. Named for Lewis M. Walker, Teachers College Board chairman, the dormitory celebrated its dedication by opening its vast doors and halls for public admiration and praise.

Housing 375 freshman women and 33 junior and senior honor residents, the dormitory established an active agenda which was an impressive record for its first year. A masquerade party, homecoming decorations, and a Christmas formal highlighted the activities of the residents.

Modern furnishings and contemporary design throughout the building mark it as a distinctly new and attractive addition to the campus. Directors of the dormitory are Miss Bette Soldwedel and Miss Visitacion Miguel.

"Bridge, anyone?" When time permits, honor residents Judy Renfro, Sandy Umbanhowar, and Lenore Renner assume the lady-of-leisure pose which includes a bridge game.

A "birds-eye view" of Walker Hall is indicative of its spaciousness portrait of Fell Hall epitomizes quiet, warmth, and the ethereal. Clara Churchill, Judy Luebchow, Gloria Foley, Wendy Downs, Sandra Montagnoli, Madra Montagnoli, Joanne Rak, and Joan Ehresman are "stuffing" to complete Homecoming decorations on time.

Fell Hall

Fell Hall, the focal point of the campus and a land-mark secondary only to Old Main, acquired a new designation this past year. In September, 1955, it no longer was the freshman women's dormitory but the residence of 256 sophomores and honor residents. Though this change has taken place, the internal functioning of the hall remains the same. The judicial council, which is newly elected each semester, is the governing body of the dormitory, while the social council arranges for the various dances, parties, and other recreation. Miss Isabelle Terrill and Miss Carol Rylander serve as the directors.

The hall is a familiar meeting place for those who live there but also for other students who often visit the Cage, at the rear entrance of the dormitory. They attend the dances in the recreation room, such as the Flunker's Frolic (that was held the week-end before final exams).

One of the most active and friendly times at Fell Hall is during the Christmas season, when the traditional Christmas formal, the ever-popular formal Christmas dinner, and the open-house for the campus take place. The Homecoming decoration also stimulates much excitement and action; it is always one of the most striking.

Diana Cozart turned hair stylist when Pat Patterson needed a new hair-do.

Tom Carr serves as host to Harlan Clauss, a new arrival, and his parents, during Orientation Week.

Dunn Hall

Now in its sixth year on campus, Dunn Hall accommodates 156 male students and plays an important part in campus activities. In addition to the serenading of the women's residence halls, the men took third place with their Homecoming decoration, "Moments to Remember," and during the winter and spring they sponsored two dances. With commodious rooms and a comfortable lounge and recreation room, the Hall offers the men many modern conveniences, including its proximity to Barton and Walker Halls.

Jim Wiltz leads his fellow dorm-mates as they serenade members of the fairer sex who live in Fell Hall.

This majestic entrance leads into an atmosphere of friendliness and companionship among the girls and their guests.

Time is taken from their busy schedules of classes and homework as Jackie Barth, Judy Smith and Ann Moberly enjoy a few laughs.

Barton Hall

Built in 1951, and named for Lillian Barton, former Dean of Women, Barton Hall contains rooms for 159 girls. Because of 19 vacancies during the 1955-'56 school year, the hall saw the activities of only 140 busy girls of all classifications.

The hall boasts of having metal furniture, two kitchenettes, a recreation room and a lounge, a television set, and a joint kitchen with Dunn Hall.

Sponsoring two dances, making Homecoming decorations, having a booth at the Carnival and having dorm parties—all keep the "Barton" girls and the hall director, Miss Lorraine Foster, active.

Smith Hall

Gordon Triefenbach, Duane Houser, and John Cherry relax in one of the many commodious rooms which make Smith Hall a favorite place of residence for many campus men.

Smith Hall, perhaps more than any other residence on campus, exemplifies the philosophy of fraternal living.

Perhaps the most unique residence hall on campus is the beautifully landscaped and homelike Smith Hall. Over fifty men dwell here under the popular directorship of Dean Linkens and Mrs. Harriet Vissering.

The hall is governed by Russell Thiems, president; Don Nichols, vice-president; Lewis Barron, secretary; Ron Carlock, treasurer; and Ray Rebuck, social chairman.

One of the most outstanding projects of the "Smith men" is the construction of an outstanding Homecoming decoration, which is destined to take one of the top places in the contest each year. Their activities also include manning a booth at the spring carnival and the sponsorship of several closed dances.

John Cherry and Bill Thurber stop eating long enough to listen attentively to Tom Patrick as he introduces some food-time fun.

Living off-campus

Paul Sloter, George Patka, and Don Mitchell relax in one of the many residences which provide off-campus housing for students. Specific requirements must be met by house parents, and each house is then approved by the University.

Elaine Lebegue gets ready for the evening's activities. Women, as well as men who live off-campus, are represented in a house president's board. Off-campus houses participate in the annual Homecoming festivities and are awarded prizes for best decorations.

In spite of the homelike atmosphere, Paul Sloter makes preparations to leave "dear of Normal" for a few days.

Acting President and Dean, Arthur H. Larsen

The Executive

The integral part of any campus is the university president and the dean of the university. For the past two years both of these positions have been filled by one man, Dean and Acting President Arthur H. Larsen. As a result of his two-fold job, Dean Larsen has been in charge of the internal and external functions of the university. The correlation of the curriculum and the program of studies is a part of the responsibilities of his job as dean. In the capacity of president, he represented the university in all official functions, presented programs to the Teachers College Board, and was responsible for the over-all administration of the university. Although he had a busy schedule, Dean Larsen met monthly with the student leaders and advised them as to the solution of problems pertinent to the student body.

For his interest in the welfare of the university and its students, and for the tasks he so willingly accepted, we offer our sincere "Thank you."

riendships are made by diversion,

"Your friend is my friend . . ." Dr. Peithman assures the ISNU newcomers in song.

Four years begin

On the second Sunday in September, hundreds of new students arrive on the campus of Illinois State Normal University. These freshmen are filled with anxious excitement rather than with the worries of facing a new situation, for ISNU has begun the Orientation activities several weeks before this initial day of college.

At approximately the middle of the summer, the various organizations begin informing prospective students of the customs and current practices on campus. Two of these services are sponsored by Women's League; one is the publication Campus Cues, which states the acceptable attire for various occasions, and the other is the Campus Sister Council, which provides for individual counseling before and after arrival at ISNU. The dormitories, also, provide lists of campus-living essentials, so that the freshman does not come to college and then remember his check book still waiting to be packed. Thus, the student is adequately prepared for the first days of college, which will further orientate him to the many aspects of his new environment.

Betty Veldman, Gwenda Miller and others are all victims of those long white blanks on Registration Day.

Kay Payton and Paula Martinie are certain that the book line gets longer every year.

For 1100 freshmen

This year's Orientation Week activities for ISNU newcomers began with the convocation program at McCormick Gymnasium. Shortly afterwards, an ample picnic supper was served to the new students, their families, and the attending faculty members. In the days that followed, these students toured the campus, took numerous placement tests, and became acquainted with their department heads, their advisors, and other members of the faculty. Moreover, Orientation Week gave the freshmen a chance to become friendly with other new students during the Freshman Mixer, the Watermelon Picnic, and the Sing and Movie. Other activities, namely individual church receptions, the All-School Mixer, the Journalism Open House, and the Co-Educational Play Day, provided the new freshmen with an opportunity to meet many of the ISNU upperclassmen. At the end of this full Orientation Week, the ISNU freshman class had happily found their home away from home.

Ron Moews, Dick Hackl, Pat Patterson, Carl Larson, and Guy Diercouff slice the melons for the hungry crowd at the Freshman picnic.

Entertaining musically

One of the most memorable programs of the assembly series at Capen Auditorium during the school year was the presentation of "Brigadoon" by Bettyanne Clayton and Herbert Lane. The couple narrated the wistful tale of the old Scottish village that could appear on earth for only one day every hundred years. They vocalized many of the popular songs, such as "Bonnie Jane" and "It's Almost Like Falling in Love," that have captivated audiences all over the country.

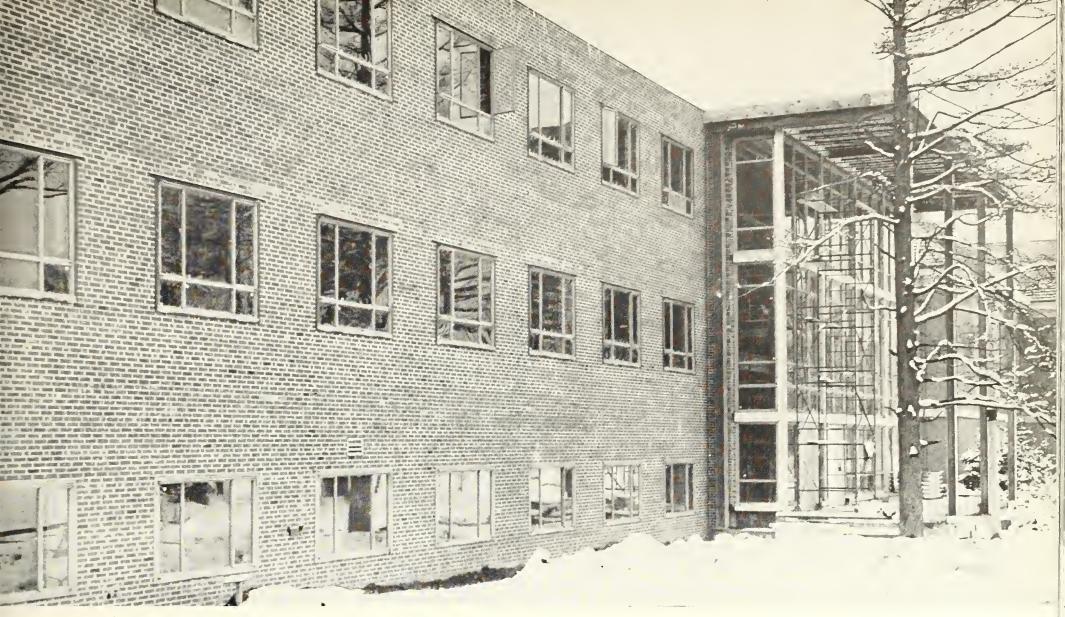

Soprano Bettyanne Clayton and tenor Herbert Lane sing liltingly of quaint Brigadoon.

Arlene Urquhart and Ron Schultz compliment the French troupe on their performance.

Les Compagnons de la Chanson, a group of nine singing Frenehmen, were enthusiastically received by ISNU students when they appeared here in October for the first program of the Entertainment Series. The group, which is well-known in the United States and Europe, presented a diversified program, including songs rendered in both Freneh and English. The songs in French were elarified through the elever pantomiming and the English songs were emphasized by the singers' facial expressions. Folk tunes, popular songs, and classical arrangements were performed with equal skill by the Companions of the Song, as signified by the thundering applause at the conclusion of each of their numbers.

Nearing completion, the Student Union building commands the attention of all visitors.

Student Union

September of 1956 will witness the long-awaited completion and anticipated opening of the Student Union. The construction, which began in April of 1955, will be completed in the early summer, ready for use by the new freshmen and the returning students. Later in the centennial year the dedication will take place. The proposed administration of the building will consist of a Student Union president and a director of the Union. In addition to these two members, the board will consist of twelve elected undergraduates representing each class, one graduate student, a student council representative, two faculty members, the president of the university, and the director of alumni relations. Though the establishment and construction of a Student Union for ISNU has been a somewhat long and sometimes tedious process, the completed building will prove its worth by encouraging and enhancing student unity.

Dick Hackl explains to Midge Stewart the plans for the completed Student Union.

Larry Efaw points out the new developments in the Student Union building to Marilyn LaFond, Carol Brubaker, Sheila Peterson, Dick Hackl, and Roger Hufford.

Evenings

Each year, ISNU students don their best clothes and throng into McCormick Gymnasium to hear the music of their favorite bands. This season's first Big Four Dance featured the rhythmic music of Eddie Grady's Commanders. The Commanders played two of their recent hit-tunes, "Make Love to Me" and "Honey in the Horn."

to remember

The Cage, which is adjacent to the west side of Fell Hall, is the popular meeting place for all ISNU students. Here, over a cherry coke or a cup of hot coffee, friendly groups of students discuss the latest campus activities, elections, and exams. Thus, from early morning to late evening, the buzzing conversations, the tinkling of glasses, and the harmonious songs of the juke box can be heard here. Cageology 101, although not a required course, is favored by practically all ISNU students.

Carolyn Roney gives Pat Teberg the Cage's classic coke as John Brown looks on.

Harriers

"The ISNU Cross Country team for 1955 was probably better than the team of 1954. A look at the record book will not substantiate this statement, but a close look at the times turned in by individuals and the team as a whole will prove this to be the case." This was the comment of Coach Joe Cogdal in answer to a query as to his opinion of the team. To explain further, Coach Cogdal said that though the team had improved (thanks to men like Lynn Viseur, Frank Dalla-Riva, and Captain Bill Benner) and ran better meets; the opposition had also improved enough to drop ISNU from 1954's third place to the 1955 fourth place. The Birdies were consistent in that they placed fourth in the IIAC and the IICCA. There is no award that corresponds to Most Valuable Player, but Coach Cogdal referred to Lynn Viseur as "placing highest most often." The 3¼ milers named Frank Dalla-Riva as their captain for 1956.

"And they're off!" That's the familiar cry at horse races, but it is used here only to point out the fact that these are the "work horses" of Coach Joe Cogdal. Breaking in a group are Lynn Viseur, Jim Tyree, Bill Benner, Joe Wanner, Frank Dalla-Riva, and Jim Bryant.

Head Coach Ed Struck assumes a characteristic pose as he outlines strategy to his co-captains, Bill Booker (32) and Bob Riggenbach (50). Bill went on to win Most Valuable Player honors.

Varsity "Gridders"

Coach Ed Struck's 1955 edition of gridiron gladiators opened the season against Bradley University. For Normal partisans the highlight of the game came in the first period when Darrell Spang exploded through the line for 55 yards and the only Normal touchdown. The point after touchdown, scored by Lee Handley, put the Redbirds out in front by one point. Bradley then surged ahead to the final score of 18-7.

ISNU opened their conference play against Northern. For the first three quarters, Normal depended on their defense, able as a result to hold Northern to a touchdown and an extra point. In the fourth period, the defense forced the Huskies to punt, and Darrell Spang stepped off a classy 42 yard punt return. With five minutes left to play, Jerry Goodrich converted after Spang had crashed the last two yards for the TD. Normal gained possession of the ball with less than two minutes to play, and Lee Handley's attempted field goal was wide of the goal posts. Northern ran out the time and settled for a 7-7 tie.

In the third game of the season, Normal broke into the win column by a slim three points over Eastern. Early in the first quarter, Bob Riggenbach broke for the side lines and did a tight rope act that was good for a touchdown. The point-after-touchdown was wide. Eastern fumbled on the first play after the kick-off and ISNU moved to the nine yard line where Jerry Goodrich kicked a field goal. Three plays later Jerry Goodrich scored over tackle; then Bob Riggenbach converted for Normal and the score read 16-0. In the second half, Eastern came back via the air lanes and scored two touchdowns and one extra point. The final score read 16-13.

A well-balanced and powerful team from Michigan Normal came to McCormick Field and handed the ISNU Redbirds their first conference loss. Riddled with injuries from the first fray and throughout the entire season, the Redbirds began to show effects of their injuries in losing to the Hurons, 25-6. Normal's lone touchdown came on a 14 yard pass from quarterback Mary Lucas to end Lee Handley.

Central Michigan's Chippewas spoiled the ISNU Homecoming by dumping the Redbirds 35-7. Early in the first quarter, Bob Riggenbach twisted and tugged his way through the Chips' secondary for 74 yards and a TD. After a time out, Bob regained his breath, stepped back, and kicked the point after touchdown. This was the extent of Normal's scoring for the afternoon.

Stan Hoselton (58) charges up to make the block that gives Bob Riggenbach (50) an extra five yards against a fired-up Salukis team.

Ray Adams (53), John Ortwerth (61), Ed Powell (46), Guy Neibuhr (26), Don Wachter (38), and Bob Riggenbach (50) lead the Redbirds on to the field for the annual Homecoming game against Central Michigan's Chippewas.

Darrell Spang and Bob Riggenbach dug out their swamp-tromping shoes and slopped Normal to a 20-20 tie against Lewis College. The rain that transformed

The step of the Men's Marching Band symbolizes the confidence of the school in Normal's football squad opposing Southern.

McCormick Field into a gigantic mud bath continued throughout the day but was not enough to stop the flashy Normal backs from exhibiting their wares on the treacherous turf. Just prior to half time, Riggenbach slid around left end to the 22 yard line. Using the same maneuver, Spang went around right end for the T.D. Goodrich converted for a 7-0 score. Early in the third quarter, Riggenbach floundered 88 yards for a touchdown. Jerry Goodrich's place kick was wide. With less than 5 minutes to play Spang broke through the left side of the line and went 9 yards for the final touchdown. Riggenbach coolly booted the ball through the uprights for the tying point.

The Birdies won their next outing 1-0 by virtue of a forfeiture by Western's Leathernecks. During the actual game, which Normal lost 32-13, the Redbirds were sparked by Darrell Spang's 50 yard touchdown jaunt and Bob Jones' consistent ground gaining.

The final IIAC game was played against Southern's Salukis at McCormick Field. In the second half, Normal pushed the ball half the length of the field to the 5 yard line; then Spang carried it into the end zone for the TD. Riggenbach again put his educated toe to work and made the score 14-7. Following two more touchdowns and conversions by Southern, Thomas wound up his throwing arm and engineered a 67 yard touchdown march. The march culminated in a 7 yard touchdown pass from Thomas to Bob Denny. Riggenbach kicked the last extra point of the conference season for a final score of 28-14, Southern over Normal.

Bob Riggenbach goes up in the air to successfully evade the tackle attempted by an unidentified Titan. Rugged Robert went on for a 25 yard gain which set up an eventual score by Darrell Spang.

Birdies "Snow" Titans

The 65th annual Normal-Wesleyan game was played on the snow-bound McCormick Field gridiron where the underdog Birdies plowed their way to a 20-13 win in spite of the weather and the weight advantage of the Titans. Four downs after they had kicked off, the Normal squad moved 57 yards in 9 plays for a score. The drive was highlighted by a 25 yard scamper by Bob Riggenbach, which set up Darrell Spang's TD. Minutes later Riggenbach worked a fake field goal for a tally and followed it with the first of two points-after-touchdown. Before the first half ended, John Thomas scored from 25 yards out on another razzle-dazzle play and Riggenbach booted his last PAT. The second half was a scoreless see-saw battle for both teams.

Adolph Jerdee pounced on a Titan fumble to give ISNU the ball on the IWU 23 yard line. Bob Riggenbach scored shortly after on a fake field goal attempt when the Redbirds had failed to make first down yardage.

A combination of victorious and apprehensive signs prevail among a group of ISNU girls during the Wesleyan-Normal game.

A pile-up of players occurs in the Normal-Eastern hassel. Although Eastern captured the season opener, the Normal B team came back with a victory.

B Team Birdies

The ISNU fledglings turned in a reasonably successful season by winning three games, losing two, and having one tie. The two losses with which the team opened the season were avenged later. The season ended on the upswing since the Birdies did not lose a game after the October 8 fracas at Western; the final glory came with a win over Wesleyan on November 8.

Coach Warren Crews and his assistants began the season with 58 men reporting; of this number 55 were freshmen. This situation is of note because after one year on the B squad, most players are considered ready for varsity competition and are generally the pool from which the varsity players are selected.

In the second and final meeting with Western, the Birdies avenged their earlier loss with a 20-18 win. Roger Rheeling, carrying the ball, scored the first TD of the day.

The Eastern "B" team is the cause of such obvious pain to Ron Clendening, Ray Heinemeier, Martin Aubrey, Bill Luke, and Jay Meitzler. The Junior Panthers just scored the winning touchdown.

Harold Jones seems slated for varsity duty in one of the half-back slots, particularly after his impressive showing against Wesleyan when he scored all three of the birdies' TD's. Jones led the team with 33 points and was followed by five teammates; the nearest challenger trailed by 21 points.

John Wolters seems a likely choice for varsity duty in the quarterback slot. Other promising men that could jump to the varsity are Claire Lovell, Dave McKinley, Ramon Heinemeier, and Roger Rheeling.

After dropping the season opener to Eastern 19-13, and the next one against Western, 38-6, Coach Crews' improved team beat Eastern 13-7 and Western 20-18, tied Northern 7-7, and beat Wesleyan 21-18.

An exciting weekend

Though Homecoming lasted only three days, the spirit of the event dominated campus thought and activity for many weeks. Shortly after the semester opened, the University Theatre chose the play "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" and worked to present the production which began the traditional fall celebration.

On Friday the house decorations, which were the outcome of many hours of cooperative effort, the bonfire that cast striking shadows, and the enthusiastic pep rally added color and stimulated excitement on the campus. Shortly after 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, the ISNU bands led the extensive parade through the town of Normal and then to McCormick Field, we are the visiting high school bands competed for last honors in marching and instrumental ability.

The main event of the weekend, the football game, finally arrived, and though the ISNU team did not emerge victorious, the spirit and confidence of the student body and visiting alumni remained constant. Therefore, the coronation dance and various receptions during the rest of the weekend continued in the warm and joyous manner typical of an ISNU Homecoming.

Homecoming activities shift into high gear with the spectacular bonfire on Friday evening.

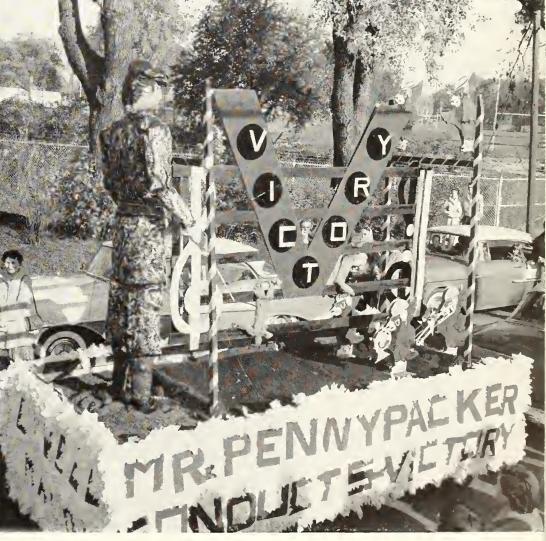

"Tip the Chips!" was the theme of one of the off-campus house decorations.

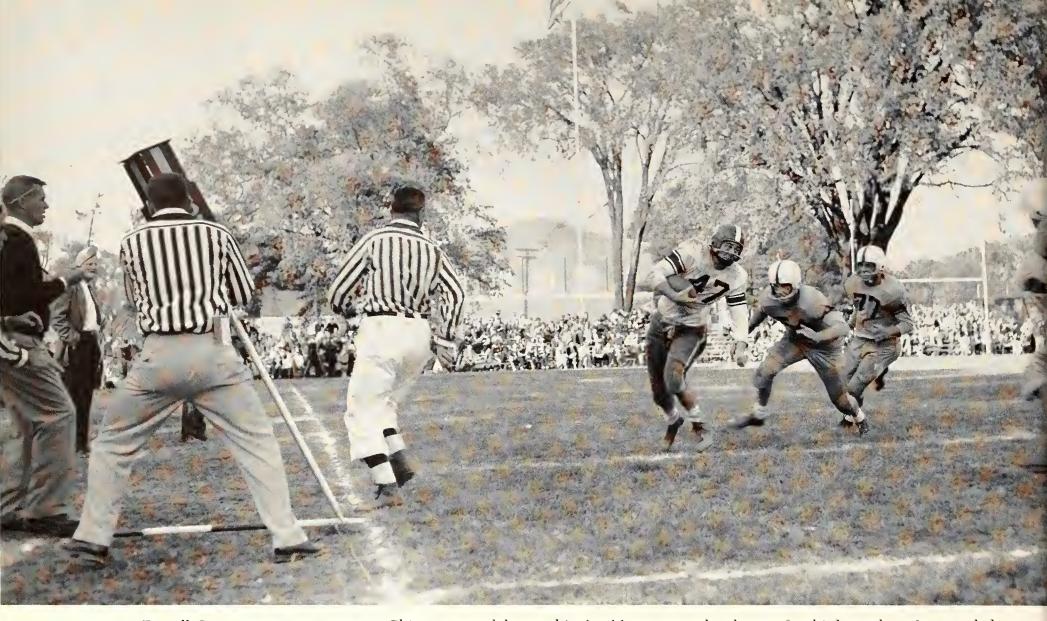

Their jack-in-the-box popped up and won for the Junior Class second prize.

Musical notes spelled a victory for the Lowell Mason Club, which won first prize in the mobile float division.

Darrell Spang out-maneuvers two Chippewas and lowers his shoulder to meet the charge of a third member of a team led by Jim Podoley, IIAC decathlon champion. The Chips made their contribution to Homecoming with a thumping defeat of the Redbirds.

A capacity crowd of students and alumni reacted enthusiastically as Bob Riggenbach captured the ball and ran seventy-four yards to provide the most exciting and breathtaking play of the entire Homecoming game. The rest of the gridiron contest proved uneventful; even though the Redbirds played well the Michigan Chippewas scored 35 points to Normal's 7. During half-time, the combined marching bands presented a musical tribute to ISNU's retired president,

Dr. R. W. Fairchild.

Saturday evening the traditional coronation dance was held in McCormick Gymnasium. Alumni and students alike watched the official crowning of the Homecoming queen and her court during intermission. Then to the strains of Griff Williams' orchestra, the long-anticipated and long-to-be-remembered 1955 Homecoming weekend came to a close.

Attending her majesty were Rae Ann Austin, a sophomore; Mary Broomfield, a senior; Sally Brammer, a senior; and Cynthia Harris, a senior.

Graduate and Foreign Students

One hundred and eighty-five students are enrolled in the University graduate school this year, doing advanced work which will lead to a Master of Science in Education degree. Requirements for receiving this degree consist of an independent research project or a thesis and thirty semester-hours of work beyond the Bachelor's degree. Foreign students on the campus represent many countries, among which are the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines, the Republic of Panama, the Canal Zone, Greece, Germany, India, and Liberia. Most of these students are studying here on government scholarships and will return to their own countries to teach.

Mola Alphonse points out her native country, the Republic of Panama, to Danny Acquino, from the Hawaiian Islands, and Gloria Reyes, of the Philippines, as Dr. Chris A. De Young looks on.

Tower Studio presents

A radio art class, musical programs, dramatic presentations, weather reports, and campus news may be heard from ISNU over Bloomington radio station WJBC, Monday through Friday. These afternoon programs are broadcast directly from the campus studios located in the Cook Hall tower and are presented largely by students with faculty assistance.

Student announcers Don Behnke and Don McHenry report the daily campus news.

As Don McHenry examines the controls, John Kelso broadcasts an afternoon program in Tower Studios.

John Kelso slams a door and produces a sound effect which enhances the radio presentation of Don McHenry and Don Behnke.

Principles in practice

Climaxing the training of every ISNU student is the opportunity and requirement of student teaching. Before a graduating senior can receive his diploma, he must have completed from eight to ten semester hours in the course entitled Education 220. The course provides experiences in observing the development of pupils and the work of a skilled critic teacher. The student himself does a large part of the teaching.

Most seniors do their practice teaching in the training school on campus, while others are placed in various schools throughout the state. Every graduate is quick to agree that his most valuable experience was gained through student teaching.

Handel's "Messiah"

As in the past, the spiritually beautiful "Messiah" by George F. Handel heralded in the Christmas season at ISNU. The combined University choirs' presentation of the oratorio was accompanied by an ensemble composed of faculty members, students, and former students. The united 350 voices of the University choir, the University Women's chorus, and the University Men's glee club formed the largest choir ever assembled at Normal. Miss Emma Knudson conducted the choral group in their eighteenth presentation of "The Messiah."

Enjoying the reception after the Christmas service are Mr. Ervin Miller, Mr. Arnold Wiltz, Marge Miller, Mrs. Wiltz, Mrs. Miller, Leroy Noel, and Marvin Elbert.

Before the holidays . . .

Decorations and preparations, plus formal dinners set the glad mood. The University Club and the Women's League services played hosts to the Christmas season at ISNU. The University Club and Women's League jointly sponsored a Christmas service in Capen Auditorium for all students and their parents. The University Choir provided music during the program when Father John Sweeney of Peoria, Illinois, was the speaker.

Formal dinners held in the women's dormitories provided a diversion that most young ladies enjoyed. After the turkey dinner with all the trimmings, many of the girls gathered in their respective lounges and sang carols together or quietly meditated on the warmth of friendships shared during the year and during the season of brotherhood.

Dick Pierce, Lowell Anderson, and Rod Hartnett decorate Dunn Hall's Christmas tree.

Marge Miller, Dorothy Russert, Willene Collman, and Judy Oliver prove that the incongruity of "Jingle Bells" and formals is not unpleasant to eye or ear.

"Invitation to the dance"

Evidence that snowflake silhouettes and the music of Al Pizzamiglio's orchestra are perfect for dancing are the expressions of Jerry Gilmore and Ann Moberly. "Winter Whisper" was Barton Hall's Christmas formal.

"Tinsel Twirl" was the Walker Hall girls' Christmas "invitation to the dance," with a Red Nichols tempo. An unknown couple swings into a new step. Can you identify them? In the background Barbara Frey and Bob Libby remain "conventional."

Resplendent in white jackets and maroon accessories, members of the Men's Glee Club form an "N" with their director, Dr. Peithman, in front of Fairchild Hall.

"Brothers, sing on . . . sing on!"

Some seventy-five basses and tenors met together every Monday and Thursday nights to "sing on" with the Men's Glee Club. Under the direction of Dr. Harlan W. Peithman, the group made numerous appearances before community organizations throughout the year and presented a program of Christmas music on the Bloomington television channel. They joined with the other musical organizations on campus in the annual presentation of The Messiah.

Traveling throughout the state, the members went on mid-year and spring tours, singing numbers ranging from Negro spirituals to modern jazz before many different high-school audiences and appearing now and then on local radio and television networks.

Both sacred and secular numbers are applauded by those who enjoy listening to the harmony produced by the Men's Glee Club.

Jim Wiltz and Dr. Peithman discuss the repertoire for the forthcoming tour.

Tragic sleighride

With the combination of extremely impressive scenery and excellent character portrayals, the audience was engulfed in an atmosphere of impending tragedy from the moment the curtain was opened for "Ethan Frome" until the last tragic words of the epilogue. The play represented the hard compulsions of the poor, as vividly emphasized by Bob Wilson's characterization of Ethan Frome, a man who was caught in an unchangeable situation heightened by extreme poverty and an indebtedness to his domineering wife. Zeena was superbly played by Marcia Lester and Jackie Berganga on alternate evenings. Mattie Silver, the sweet, unaffected, and spirited young girl with whom Ethan was in love, was realistically dramatized by Shirley Landwehr and Diane Teasdale. Though the play was basically a tragic and terrifying one, a bit of humor was occasionally added by Jotham, the hired man, who was more than competently played by Gary Gresham. As is traditional with the Jesters, the winter play proved to be a pensive and unforgettable drama.

Hoopsters

Although the 1955-56 season did not end in a championship berth for the ISNU Cagers, it was one of reasonable success. Coached by Pim Goff and led by such players as Al Meyer, Fred Marberry, Rick Riggenbach, and Dave Schertz, the Redbirds put together a season record of 10-14, and a conference record of 6-6. Possibly the presence of Essic Robinson, declared ineligible for the 1956 portion of the season, would have lifted the quintet above a .500 conference average and fourth place rank.

The season began with a 116-100 win over McKendree College of Missouri. Al Meyer, skipper of the ISNU Birdies, racked up 51 points to establish a Number of Points Per Game record.

Still riding high, Normal swamped visiting Lewis College 106-86. Fred Marberry paced the team with 37 points and combined efforts with Essic Robinson to control the backboards for ISNU.

When the season had progressed to the tune of an 89-71 loss to Quincy, a 90-83 heartbreaker to Kirksville, and a 105-84 IIAC win over Northern (in which Fred scored 44), the Redbirds went to the Quincy Holiday Tournament. ISNU scored what were rated as two upsets for a third place trophy. Fabulous Fred led the Redbirds with 19 points in each of the first two games and 18 in the third, where, with five seconds left, he gave ISNU a 83-82 win over Quincy. The opponents named Marberry the Most Valuable Player of the tourney.

In the 102-77 loss to De Paul, Marberry scored 27 points. In Western's record-breaking 126-92 victory, Marberry hooped 29. ISNU beat Michigan's Hurons 94-83 as Fred meshed 28 and Riggenbach 19. While Fred arched 22 and Robinson turned in 21, plus a beautiful defensive game, ISNU lost to Michigan Central 94-80.

ISNU welcomed the IWU Titans to the campus by going the first eight minutes of the second half without a score from the field. Captain Meyer, who led the Redbird attack, scored 24 points and was seconded by Marberry with 14 and Robinson with 12. In spite of the point production, Normal lost 74-70.

"Rick" Riggenbach gets ready to cover for Essic Robinson as he shoots a long two-hander.

Rob Riggenbach feeds to Captain Al Meyer on a fast break against the Titans.

When ISNU lost to Indiana Central 92-89, Marberry hit 36 tallies; as the Redbirds topped Southern 94-81 Fred scored 30. Al Meyer made 35 against Millikin in a 105-92 loss. To culminate a four game losing streak, Normal lost to Eastern 108-85, Northern 85-80, and Western 108-77.

As the Birdies routed Central Michigan 110-87, Fearless Fred, scouted by the Globetrotters, poured in 38 points. Schertz and Marberry led the cagers as they clouted Michigan Normal 107-93.

In the second Redbird-Titan tilt, Marberry got 40 points, Schertz 12, Meyer 17, and Riggenbach 14. In spite of the attack and Schertz' terrific defensive performance, a 70 point second half gave IWU a 113-96 win. Marberry led his mates to an 81-74 win over SIU with 39 points. Among Fred's records are the 645 point ISNU Season Scoring record, and a 12 game IIAC Season Scoring record of 353. To add to Marberry's laurels, he was named IIAC Most Valuable Player for two consecutive seasons, 1954-55 and 1955-56.

In spite of the fact that "Rick" Riggenbach and Al Meyer have seen the spectacular Fred Marberry work all season, they still have an awed expression on their faces.

"B" Ballers

The Redbird fledgelings had one of the best season's records of any of the teams, including many of varsity caliber. B Team Coach Warren Crews may provide Coach Pim Goff with some valuable material next year from a team that won 10 and lost only 3.

The highest individual scoring average was amassed by Gene Jontry, who scored 146 points in nine games for an average of 16.2 points per game.

The highlight of the season was threefold: the twin win over IWU, and a blanketing of Millikin. Against the Titans, Lee Smith swished in 16 points while the whole bench played in the 77-50 win. Millikin came to town and was clobbered 108-70 as Powell meshed 24.

This picture of Gene Jontry could have been taken at any time during the regular season or at the practice sessions. Gene displays one of his favorite shots, and one of the instruments which led the downy Birdies in almost every department.

To lead the cheering at games and to encourage school spirit is the job of Barb Conder, Shirley Romano, Charles Schmidt, Joyce Schulte, and Gloria Kaszynski—the varsity cheerleaders.

Tankers

The Redbird Mermen completed their season with a record of 4 wins and 5 losses. Captain Roy Sorge led a team that broke three records: ISNU 300 yard medley relay record, from which the same combination shaved another two seconds later on, and the ISNU 160 yard individual medley record. The high point of the season was a 57-25 ducking of the Titans.

Pat Patterson opens a tight jack-knife under the watchful and critical eye of Bill Kochalka.

The Redbirds, who perform as easily as ducks, show the form that drowned three records this season. The tankers swam with such "porpoise" that they sank the same record twice.

Grapplers

Wally Hess (on his knees) ignores the terrible grimmace of his opponent to defeat an attempt for a reversal.

Coach Eugene Hill's wrestling squad, hampered all season by injuries and ineligibility, gave up the IIAC crown they had held for the last three years. After the win over Western, the grapplers lost 12 men, two of whom were defending IIAC champions. ISNU's patched-up team scored victories over Northern, Augustana, and Marquette in dual meets. In the Wheaton Invitational, ISNU finished fourth. The IIAC Conference Meet saw the Birdies exchange their crown for a third place berth.

Ben Bohlander won the 147 pound title that Meitzler surrendered when he took the 157 pound crown from the defending champion. Meitzler was the only title-holder for ISNU to do a repeat performance. Bohlander captained the team to a 4-3-1 season and ranked, with Meitzler, as the most consistent point gainer.

Women's Extramurals

Women's extramural teams consisting of those physical education majors and minors and any other women students who demonstrate the best skills comprise the competitive representatives of ISNU in sports for girls. Records for the season have been encouraging to the participants, who have exhibited their ability in contests throughout the state. Tennis, softball, basketball, hockey, and volleyball offer the "interested" experiences in cooperation and fair play.

Women's Intramurals

Again in the past year, the Women's Recreation Association sponsored a program of intramural sports for all ISNU women. Some of the various activities were archery, hockey, basketball, tennis, softball, and volleyball. Contrary to the popular belief that physical education majors dominate intramurals, the teams have a limited and proportionate number of these students. Because of this factor and the very pleasurable recreation derived from this program, an enthusiastic turnout occurs at the beginning of each nine weeks for the new sport. During 1955 the intramural program was directed by Barb Phillips with the assistance of various members of WRA.

Men's Intramurals

In the IM swimming activities, Jim Wall took first place in the forty yard free style, and Bert Winterbottom was first in the forty yard butterfly and 100 yard free style. Top honors in the sixty yard breaststroke and in the eighty yard medley went to Mike McCastle, while Jim Monahan took first in the forty yard backstroke.

Top honors in the IM Medalist Golf Tournament went to Dan Arbogast with a 54 hole score of 231; Jerry Gilmore was second with a score of 235. After losing the first nine holes to Gilmore, Dan either won or tied the next forty-five holes.

Forensics and Debate

A year of honor and achievement for the debate and Forensics squads upheld their status as one of the most successful competitive student participation groups. Members of Forensics have defeated speakers from Purdue, Detroit, SIU, and Heidelburg, as well as having tied Northwestern, Notre Dame, Greenville, and Augustana. Mixed results were obtained in the tournament at Bradley; concurrently Joanne Hines, Barbara Mowder, Faye Felchner, and Tom Wilson were obtaining excellent results in their debates at the University of Iowa Speech Conference.

Peg Davenport and Don McHenry won five out of six debates at the District Five West Point Eliminations contest, but for the first time in the history of the tournament, five wins weren't enough to take them to West Point. Phyllis Peterson and Peg Davenport won the women's division of the Midwest Speech Meet at Kirksville, Missouri. On the same weekend of December 2, Don McHenry and Chris Melz won three out of four debates in the Greenville tournament.

Health and Food Service

Under the capable direction of Miss Bradford, the food service has been expanded this year to include the new women's dormitory, Walker Hall. It now serves the four dormitories, Fell Hall's Cafeteria, and the Special Education school lunch program.

The Health Service is skillfully directed by Dr. Hardy. This year a new nurse was added to take care of the colds and sore throats of the students. It is nice to have a friendly place such as this to depend on when one needs medical help.

St. Pat's Day Carnival

Nina Klimiuk served as a mustachioed host in the saloon erected by Barton Hall. During the course of the evening a card game was presented along with music and dancing.

The prize-winning skit was sponsored by Walker Hall. It was unusual in the fact that the legs belonged to a different girl than did the upper part of the body. A provocative dance was performed in this fashion.

Anne Moberly and Marty Clisson had a hearty laugh when someone tossed a ring on Ann's foot. Perhaps it was because the prize would be a kiss.

A prize-winning booth was Fell Hall's "Beat the Clock." Shirley Barnett acted as announcer while Mary Janik waited patiently as a balloon was blown up through her ear, and while Ardene White attempted to "beat the clock."

Pictured above are the members of the University Choir which is under the direction of Miss Emma Knudson. Combining their free time and musical ability, these men and women gave another year of service to the campus, community, and state. Two programs which required endless planning and preparation were The Messiah and the American Music Festival.

Music...vocal and instrumental

Dr. Irwin Spector, director, and the University Symphony Orchestra enabled the student body to become acquainted with classical compositions of the music world. Their busy performance schedule for the year included a concert in Bloomington, an assembly program, a spring concert in April, and a tour.

A committee chosen by the officers of the Vidette, the Index, the Student Council, and each class selects the bands that appear for the Big Four Dances. The Women's League and the University Club jointly sponsor these nights of pleasure for the ISNU students. The decorations and arrangements for the dances were handled by the committee and co-chairmen Jane Thompson and Gordon Triefenbach. Dr. Ralph Gooding acted as sponsor.

Chuck Foster was one of the big names whose orchestra played for capacity crowds in McCormick Gym this year. The music of the Foster group has been popular for many years throughout the Chicago area and across the nation. His most thrilling engagement was playing for the late F. D. ## Love in Paris

Capen auditorium was the scene of Lowell Mason Club's production of Jerome Kern's famous operetta, Roberta. The story of the love troubles of an American football star in France was directed by Jim Wiltz, with the assistance of Gordon Treifenbach and Dave Holcomb. The lead roles were sung and acted by Ed Jones as John Kent, the handsome football player, and Alene Berry as Stephanie, the girl who finally wins his heart. This was probably the finest musical production on the campus this year.

Sweetheart's Ball

ISNU men chose Joyce Schulte as their 1956 Sweetheart. The queen of the hearts and flowers and her court were introduced at the University Club Sweetheart formal. Escorted through individual paper frames, the attendants were Leona Colebar, Rita Frye, Vivian Kolodziej, Pat Mahoney, and Shirley Romano. Anticipation and wonder preceded thunderous applause as the "Sweetheart," Joyce Schulte stepped through the paper cupid frame. University Club president Duane Houser gave a loving cup to last year's "Sweetheart," June Jochums, who presented it to the new Sweetheart of 1956.

Surrounded by red and white decorations which complemented the Valentine season, approximately 300 couples paid tribute to the reigning queen and court. Gus Lohmann, general chairman, contracted Al Pizzamiglio's music for dancing.

To burn a witch

Capturing the atmosphere of the fifteenth century, but still expressing the modern-day frailties of man, Theta Alpha Phi scored another success with the play "The Lady's Not For Burning." This production was a comedy; however, it vividly portrayed the triumphant philosophy of love and joy in the character of Jennet Jourdemayne as opposed to Thomas Mendip's negative philosophy of individual greed and selfishness. Thus University Theatre brought to ISNU an entertaining drama based on Christopher Fry's comments on human behavior.

Outstanding Seniors

Twenty-three members of the graduating class were chosen as Outstanding Seniors. These men and women were selected according to their scholastic achievements and their participation in activities. Nominees were named and voted upon by the Student Council.

Those elected were Sally Brammer, Mary Broomfield, Carol Brubaker, Tom Edwards, Larry Efaw, Pat Gallagher, Marilyn Jacobs, Mary James, Helen Kni-erim, Jack Martin, and Doris Miner.

Still others were Betty Mitts, James Noah, Leroy Noel, Kenneth Robbins, Roberta Cutter Ropp, Jane Thompson, Fred Wellman, Pat White, Alan Meyer, Les Hellemann, Lucy Samalonis, and Mercedes Tompkins.

On April 8, a tea was held in the Faculty Lounge of the Administration Building. At this tea Dean Larsen, in the presence of the seniors' parents, presented each member with an award as a token of recognition and appreciation from their fellow students.

Posing for the photographer are the other outstanding seniors. Seated are Carol Brubaker, Alan Meyer, Jane Thompson, Jack Martin, Betty Mitts, and Mary Broomfield. Mercedes Tompkins, Jim Noah, Fred Wellman, and Leroy Noel prefer standing.

A jolly song is sung by the Friars as they portray the theatre in ancient times.

"That's Entertainment"

Drama in perspective characterized a polished and amusing Blackfriar show. "For Art's Sake" historically reviewed the theatre including the drama of the cave man, the Classic Greek tragedy, the Shakespearian tragedy, the opera, the ballet, the western melodrama, the vaudeville circuit, and the musical comedy. "That's Entertainment" sung by the entire cast accompanied by the Blackfriar orchestra was the grand finale. Music, singing, and dancing produced a show with appeal, excellent timing, and a subtle humor. Costuming and effective stage setting brought complimentary comments from the capacity crowds that filled Capen Auditorium for both performances.

Ron Schultz as Juliet and Dave Potts as Romeo give a delightful presentation of Shakespeare's famous words.

Black and White

On Saturday, March 3, the Women's Gymnasium lost all of its athletic appeal when it was transformed into the mystical and impressive Beaux Arts Ball, which is sponsored annually by the Art Club. White trees with delicate paper cuts on them, Roman figures and columns, and abstract Italian harlequins provided the original atmosphere for perhaps the most unusual dance of the year. The decorations not only cast impressive shadows but also provided an excellent background for many of the couples who came dressed correspondingly to carry out the theme of the dance, Black and White.

Appearing as two Parisians at the Black and White Ball were Sam Baseler and Diane Teasdale.

The stark white tree with decorative paper tracery affords a lovely setting for the dancers, Maureen Cole and Chuck Rapp and Pat Hilton and Ed Munyer.

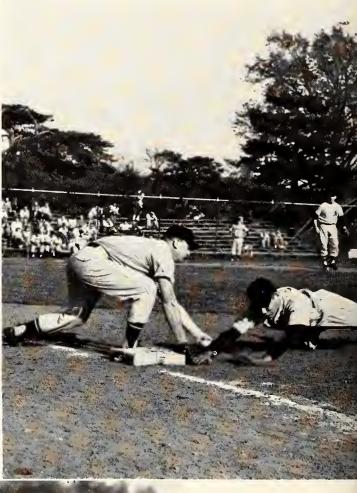

Coach Harold Frye, who took eleven returning lettermen and made a conference championship team with them as its core, is pictured here with the co-captains of the team. Returning lettermen Ray Torrey and Herb Kaufmann captained the Redbirds to a ten win and two loss conference record.

The helpless look of Dick Short needs no interpretation. Symbolic of the two clashes between ISNU and IWU, this Titan slides in safely. Despite a conference championship and a .500 season record, the Normal Birdies dropped two to the green and white Titans.

Herb Kaufmann takes the throw and dives! To the fans and the University of Illinois bench, a perfect example of how a base runner should be handled in order to discount his potential.

The baseball championship crown remains at ISNU for the second consecutive year, with the credit falling to a constant and steady ball club and exemplary coaching. This was a true team victory, in that the offense and the defense were able to find a combination that produced ten conference victories and only two losses.

The Birdies were able to maintain an average of over .500 throughout the season by winning fifteen and dropping only ten games. This respectable record was a tribute to a team led by two "old timers" who served as co-captains for the 1955 season. Co-captains

The "man in the iron mask" had no difficulty calling this play. DeWayne Davis' face registers the determination that played so great a part in the offensive and defensive play of the Redbirds. This play, against the University of Illinois, was typical of the alert ball playing that ISNU showed throughout the season.

Herb Kaufmann and Ray Torry have been around the ISNU team and baseball teams in general since 1952; there is no denying that their steadying influence was a definite advantage to Coach Frye's team.

The team voted twin honors to the well-known "Rick" Riggenbach; Bob was named co-captain for the 1956 season. In addition to the honor of playing on a championship team for two years running, Bob Riggenbach tucked the title of Most Valuable Player in his mitt for the second consecutive time. Les Hellemann, voted the other co-captain, led the 1955 Birdies in the booming bat department with a cracking .413 average for conference games and an over-all average for the season of .400.

A tip of the hat is due to Coach Frye and his assistants for the fine job they did in making a conference champion from a team that boasted only eleven returning lettermen when the call went out for aspirants.

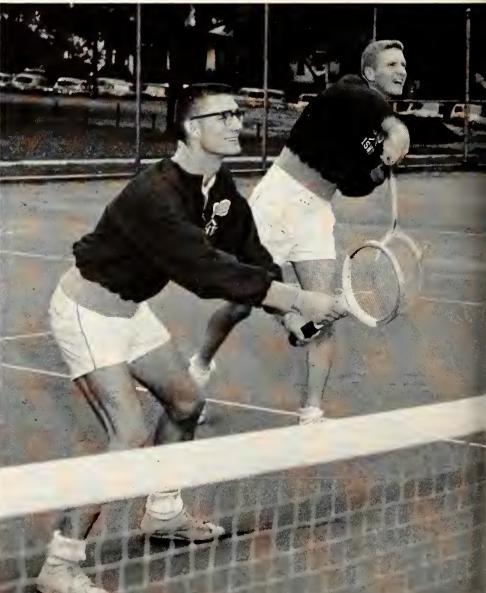

Jerry Vankus and Jim Hurst, pictured here, with Jay Meitzler and John Holcomb won the only two doubles titles that were awarded.

Coach Hill and his IIAC champions, J. Holcomb, J. Meitzler, J. Hurst, J. Vankus, S. Lystad, R. King, and P. Halpenstein, won the title for the seventh straight season.

Thinclads

A repeat performance in the IIAC standings was the culmination of the track season that saw Coach Joe Cogdal and his ten returning lettermen become even more firmly entrenched in the number six berth of the IIAC. Dale Finnell was elected captain by last year's team and led the thinclads to a second place in the Triangular Meet at Macomb, and to a fourth place in the State Colleges Meet at McCormick Field. These were two of the three highlights in the season.

The track team saved its local prestige by handing Wesleyan a whopping good loss. The crosstown rival was dumped 101½ to 29½. Fred Marberry set two new records in the series history: the half mile record, which had stood since 1932, and the high jump record.

One of the most exciting moments in track occurs as Captain Dale Finnell breaks the tape with an opponent at his heels.

Delhotal, Graduate Assistant J. Winkler

Bill Brick, George Meidel, John Goodwin, Coach Howard Hancock, Jerry Meidel, and Bill Simester comprised ISNU's 1955 golf team.

Bill Brick gives an example of keeping the eye on the ball. Bill will be one of the mainstays for Coach Hancock's golfers again next year.

Divot diggers

George Meidel, top man on ISNU's divot-digging crew of 1954 and the captain of the 1955 squad, led the 1955 golf team to a third place berth in the IIAC.

The nemesis of previous years reasserted itself in the form of Dixieland "year-round golfers"; they ruined the trip to the land of hominy and grits for Coach Harold Hancock's clubbers and dubbers.

Highlighting the season for ISNU were twin defeats of IWU's Titans.

"Getting to Know You"

Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "Getting to Know You" from The King and I reminds us of College Day in April during which hundreds of high school seniors flock to the campus for the purpose of "getting to know ISNU." Seeing the University in action, they are better able to decide whether or not they will choose ISNU as their alma mater. The morning is spent touring the campus, a free luncheon is served at noon, and in the afternoon the prospective student may observe the Jesters' play, baseball practice, or tennis matches. The student who is greatly impressed with life at ISNU hopes soon to share in that life himself.

Introducing harmony plus femininity

Women's Chorus was under the able direction of Mr. Borg, a new addition to our campus this year. As officers the chorus elected Shirley West, president, and Olivia Chung, secretary. The highlight of the year was their spring tour, which began April 26. Several schools of Springfield were entertained by the harmonious blending of the one hundred and fifty voice chorus. It was an enjoyable year for this group of women.

It is evident during this rehearsal that Mr. Borg and the Women's Chorus enjoy working and singing together. The end result—beautiful music.

Stunts for prizes

Bob Rockwell is a Junior Class candidate for Miss Maid-in-Form. Guy Diercouff and Jane Hoffman, portraying Miss Crosby and Dean Linkins, judge the lovely candidates. The stunt proved worthy of the first prize trophy in the U Club sponsored Stunt Show. Second prize went to Fell Hall for their portrayal of dormitory life.

Inspired by the novel Gone With The Wind, the Jesters' presentation was dramatically amusing. Jester stunters pictured are Jim Backes, Marilyn Lesmeister, Sam Bascler, Ken Berta, Dave Holcomb, and Doris Anderson.

For Gamma Phi the theme "A Masterpiece Comes to Life" is evident as Kay Gecan and Judy Renfro step out of a portrait and assume human qualities. Although this was a student production, the show also provided entertainment created by the faculty in their presentation depicting life on the ISNU campus.

Alumni and Founders

Annual banquets and regular meetings are held in various parts of the state and nation for the nearly 14,000 alumni of ISNU. More than 30 such alumni clubs are in existence. Monthly publications, published by the Alumni Relations office headed by Director Francis Wade, keep the former students well informed of campus activities.

Finis

The four years of work as undergraduate students have terminated, and the graduating seniors will henceforth be known as alumni. Remembering the past and looking to the future, they are about to receive that important document and passport to the teaching profession, a diploma. Many, who realize that they haven't learned all there is to know and are desirous of learning more, will eagerly pursue a higher degree, while others will begin teaching in the fall.

This June approximately 390 scniors and 40 graduate students, wearing their black gowns and white collars, will march to the outdoor amphitheatre to receive a degree from ISNU. The graduation exercises begin with the ringing of the hallowed bell of Old Main. After the commencement address, diplomas are handed out by the President of the University, and the program is brought to a close by the singing of the University Hymn. While marching from the ceremony between two rows of faculty as the University Band plays the recessional strains of "March of the Brave," the graduates recall many of the hard times and happy times which are all a part of the educative process.

Whatever the future may hold in store for them, they will not soon forget their four profitable years here at ISNU, their beloved Alma Mater.

Student Council

The Student Council, made up of representatives elected from each department of the University, plans and recommends ways to improve student life on the campus. The president is elected by the student body. Pat Gallagher served in this capacity for the year.

Student Leaders

Heads of the major all-student organizations and publications meet with Dean Larsen twice a month to discuss problems relative to students and faculty of the University. These student leaders are the president of the Student Council, the president of Women's League, the president of University Club, the co-editors of the Index, and the editor of the Vidette.

Newspaper work—a phrase that denotes time, talent, and energy comes alive in the offices of the Vidette. Al Inkster, Editor-inchief for the first semester, was assisted by Jim Noah and Virginia Stahr. Second semester, Jim Noah accepted the duties of Editor-in-chief with Virginia Stahr, Carole Meardy, and Dick Streckfuss acting as Assistant Editors. Sports editor for the year was Dan Anderson.

> Editorial Assistants for the first semester were Dick Streckfuss, Elaine Larson, Jack Martin, Midge Stewart, and Jim Monahan. Second semester they were Jim Monahan, Marcia Lester, Nancy Lundgren, Barbara Fann, and Carol Grumish. Tom Brigham was the Business and Advertising Manager and Gene Gebhardt, Photographer. Deadlines, deadlines, and more deadlines had to be met by the members of the Index staff to publish the 1956 Index. Handling of details and management of the publications staff produced long nights of work for the Co-editors, Mercedes Tompkins and Leroy Noel. Assisting Leroy and Mert in last-minute instruction, editing, proofreading, and coffee drinking was Janet Kirsch, literary editor. Adrienne Oblouk, Janet's right hand girl, acted as assistant literary editor. Helen McKenna and her staff were busily arranging art layouts.

The man with the camera was Ron Blake, photography editor. Marge Miller and her telephone made all the photography arrangements. Don Schroeder was sports editor, and Joyce Miller served as clerical supervisor. Advising the Index staff was Miss Vermell Wise.

Alpha Delta

Alpha Delta, the honorary journalistic fraternity, took various field trips to publishing houses and television networks. The organization has as its purpose to promote practical collegiate journalism and to establish and maintain a spirit of friendship and cooperation among the journalists of various colleges and universities of America. Mr. R. W. Tudor was sponsor.

Foreign Language Club

The Foreign Language Club met monthly to provide a means for social and professional growth for those interested in a foreign language and to furnish opportunities for experience which will be of benefit to prospective teachers. The year's activities were highlighted by the annual Christmas party, held at the home of Miss Jennie Whitten, with its traditional breaking of the piñata. Miss Helen Chiles sponsored the group.

Foreign Language Club leaders standing beneath the piñata are Bob Bacon, Jean Mattioli, Maynard Saxby, Clara Wattley, and Miss Helen Chiles.

Maize Grange

Included in the schedule of the honorary national agricultural fraternity was the sponsoring of the annual Holbert Medal Banquet, an all-Agriculture Department Smoker, and a spring picnic for members and guests. John Sweeney, Daren Cox, and Robert Doenitz were sent to the national convention. Assisting Mr. Ralph A. Benton, sponsor, were John Sweeney, president; Henry Gartner, vice-president; Ray Miller, secretary; and Lowell Johnson, treasurer.

With emphasis upon education and upon elevating the American farmer through moral and spiritual idealism, the Maize Grange opens membership to both agriculture and home economics majors. Special ritual and regalia for the meetings individualize this fraternity, which has been active on this campus since 1930 and is affiliated with the National Maize Grange. The group's major activity is that of sponsoring square dances. This year's officers were Eugene Craig, Eugene Farero, Joyce Martinson, and Judy Eggerman.

Home Economics Club

Bringing about a closer relationship among the members of the department and the faculty and promoting home economics is the purpose of the Home Economics Club. The members hold monthly business meetings interspersed with speakers from outside sources. A Christmas basket is given annually to a needy family. The members make and sell candy.

Kappa Omicron Phi

Have you seen the posters advertising cookie sales? The members of Kappa Omicron Phi, honorary home economics fraternity, are responsible for these sales as well as for a spring banquet held every April. Since it is a relatively young organization, there are only eighteen active members and, as yet, an unorganized group of alumni. The sponsor is Miss Ross.

Kappa Delta Epsilon

"Professional Growth" was the topic for the speakers at each meeting of the professional education sorority, Kappa Delta Epsilon. The project of the year was a Valentine's party and Thanksgiving decorations for the Booker T. Washington Children's Home. The Founders' Day Banquet served as the formal initiation program.

Officers were Sandra Umbanhowar, Mercedes Tompkins, Mary James, Mary Steinhauer, Betty Mitts, and Marilyn Stehlik. Miss Mary Webb was the advisor.

Kappa Delta Pi

Mock interviews with school superintendents and parent-teacher conferences were interesting and practical programs presented during the year by members of Kappa Delta Pi. Sponsored by Dr. Belshe and Miss Frey, the honor society in education has as its purpose to further the education profession.

Officers were Ronald Szoke, Evelyn Schnebly, Diane Elliott, Jean Schubert, Mary James, and Maxine Haase.

Jackie Cannon, Phyllis Winkler, Nancy Seal, and Annette Price assist in the primary grades—a part of their Elementary Club activities.

Elementary Club

Furthering interest in the elementary school activities and promoting a fellow-ship between students and faculty is the purpose of the Elementary Club. Picnics, speakers, parties, elections, and banquets made up the club's busy schedule for the 1955-'56 season. The largest club on campus provides reading, games, and crafts for the children of Victory Hall.

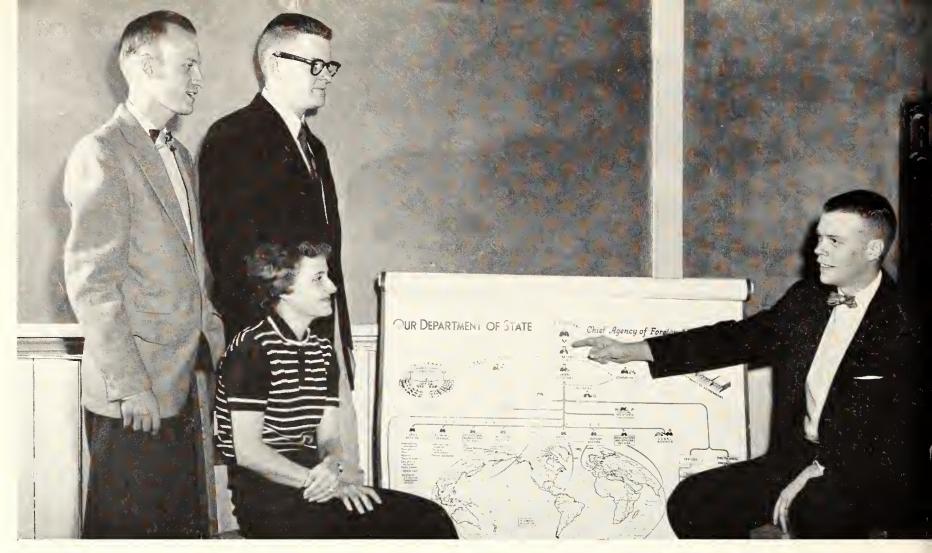

Sponsoring the club was Miss Helen Nance. She was assisted by Annette Price, Phyllis Winkler, and Jacqueline Cannon.

Special Education Club

One of the major activities of the Special Education Club is that of directing a swimming program for the children of Bloomington. This program gives the children an opportunity to participate in an activity which might otherwise be closed to them. The club recruits counselors for a summer camp for handicapped children. Miss Edna Engberg and Miss Doris Robie were their advisors.

Discussion meetings, initiation, an occasional speaker, and regular meetings all afford the social science majors and minors opportunities for social and scholastic activities with others of similar interests. Sponsor Mrs. Brunk was assisted by James Fisher, Clifford Hill, Dorothy Philipps Dick, and Cornell Diekemper.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club can claim the distinction of being one of the largest clubs on campus. Perhaps the most significant meeting was in November, featuring the former Democratic National Chairman, Stephen Mitchell. Mr. Hess was sponsor of this organization, while Gene Foster, Fred Wellman, and Louise Dagay and Sue Thurman served as officers.

The honorary business fraternity during the 1955-56 year furthered the interests of the club by obtaining authorities in the field of business and education to speak at the regular meetings. Dr. Esworthy, sponsor, was assisted by Tom Brigham, president; Larry Efaw, vice-president; Janice McConkey, secretary; Maxine Haase, treasurer; and Jack Reckling, historian.

Business Education Club

The Business Education Club's busy schedule for 1955-1956 consisted of picnics, movies, guest speakers, a Christmas party, and sponsoring, supervising and judging house decorations at Homecoming. The members also built a float for the Homecoming parade.

The officers were Jack Reckling, president; Barbara Lichty, vice-president; Jean Leemon, secretary; Janice McConkey, treasurer; and Judith Lynch and Charles Baker, publicity. The sponsor for the club was Miss Marie Jessa.

Sigma Tau Delta

The annual book sale was the most successful project of the year for the honorary English fraternity. Composed of those English majors and minors who have attained a B average and have an interest in creative writing, the club also sponsors a Homecoming breakfast and a spring banquet, and publishes a magazine called the Triangle. During this year, Jeanne Halsey, Jim Noah, Barbara Anderson, and Marcia Lester served as officers and were assisted by Dr. Dale Vetter, sponsor.

English Club

The fall session of 1955 began with the annual picnic, which attracted 45 new and old English majors. At this gathering, suggestions for the forthcoming year were made and plans to attend the play "Born Yesterday" were outlined. Another activity which filled the spare time of English majors and minors was constructing a Homecoming float and a booth for the annual Spring Carnival. The club is sponsored by Dr. Milford Jochums.

Theta Alpha Phi

The main project of the year for Theta Alpha Phi was the production of the spring play, "Ondine." During the year, the society also attended the national convention in Chicago and attended several of the plays presented by the University of Illinois Theatre. The officers for the 1955-'56 year were Peg Davenport, president; Marcia Lester, vice-president; Bob Wilson, secretary-treasurer; and Joan Burkhart, historian. Miss Mable Clare Allen was the advisor.

Jesters

The word "continuous" best describes the activity of the Jesters. In addition to the annual winter tragedy, this organization sponsors an assembly, provides entertainment for college day, and is always one of the stunt show contestants. The group assembles each month to discuss and plan forthcoming plays. During the past year, the Jesters have been sponsored by Mr. Eric Bickley.

Mr. Blomgren, Mr. Honn, Gerald Jackson and Cccil Oglesby discuss furniture making.

Iota Lambda Sigma

The industrial arts fraternity strives to bring a closer fraternal bond between the teachers, supervisors, and directors and the prospective teachers. The major activity each year is co-sponsoring a Homecoming reception with the Industrial Arts Club. A formal initiation into the fraternity was held March 10.

Cecil Oglesby served as president and was assisted by Gerald Jackson, Mr. Max Honn, and Jack Upton. The sponsor was Mr. Roger D. Blomgren.

Industrial Arts Club

Open to all majors and minors, the Industrial Arts Club sponsors many activities. The men publish the Student Directory in their classes and during their free time. They also sponsor an annual round-up of industrial arts teachers and high school students which awards a prize for the best project of the high school students.

The officers of the year were Don Vandegraft, Robert Thorstenson, Jim Compis, and Andrew Purnell. Mr. William V. White sponsored the club.

Mr. White, Don Vandegraft and Jim Compis listen to Bob Thorstenson's explanation of the surface grinder.

Mr. Green explains to Evelyn Schnebly, secretary of the Science Club, the results of a revealing experiment.

Science Club

A variety of scientific phenomena were the subjects of the speakers' discussions, the slides, and the movies during meetings of the Science Club. Comprised mostly of juniors and seniors, the organization grants membership on the basis of scholarship. Mr. Green, of the Agriculture Department, served as president this year.

Naturalist Club

To be an informative social organization is the purpose of this club. It provides a chance to become acquainted with others interested in natural science and conservation. They have field trips, picnics, and monthly meetings usually featuring entertainment pertaining to nature. The Naturalist Club won first prize for house decorations in the 1955 Homecoming contest. The club was sponsored by Dr. Donald Ries.

Women's Physical Education Club

Helen Knierim, president; Mary Ann Monferdini, vice-president; Delores Acosta, secretary; and Shirley Balzhiser, treasurer, led the Women's Physical Education Club during the '55-'56 school year. At their meetings the P.E. majors and minors plan such activities as the Senior Breakfast and the Victory Hall Christmas Party, given in conjunction with the Elementary Club. The organization is sponsored by Miss French and Miss Roell of the Women's Physical Education Department.

Women's Recreation Association

Offering fun, relaxation, and activity for university students is the purpose of the WRA. Intramurals, camping trips, playnights, clinic sports days, and coke hours are activities sponsored by this organization. Leading the group during the '55-'56 school year were Pat White, president; Marge McKee, vice-president; Mary James, secretary; Scotty Miller, treasurer; and Miss Miner, sponsor.

"N" Club

Sponsoring the spring dinner dance, playing hosts for the McLean County Basketball Tournament, and holding a joint reception with Gamma Phi for alumni at Homecoming are some of the activities of "N" Club. The Homecoming queen was selected by a committee of "N" men. The sponsor for the club was Mr. Carl Heldt. Officers for the '55-'56 school year were John Ortwerth, president; Don Wachter, vice-president; Bill Benner, secretary; and Walter Delhotal, treasurer.

Gamma Phi

Clowns, tumblers, gymnasts, and trapeze artists can be found in the Gamma Phi fraternity. Activities of the circus troupe included the presentation of an assembly program in February, the circus on March 8, 9 and 10 in McCormick Gym, and the annual tour during March and April to Mendota High School, Marquette High School of Ottawa, and Thornton Township High School of Harvey. Mr. Arley F. Gillett directed the circus and was assisted by the officers Pat Patterson, Glenn Swichtenberg, Cynthia Harris, and Mary Lynn Brown.

Art Club

Through its many activities the Art Club reached not only all of the students on campus during 1955, but also those planning to come to ISNU. For those already here, this organization sponsored the annual Beaux Arts Ball and Christmas Card sales; and for those preparing for college, the Art Career Field Day, which introduced and depicted the various activities of the Art Department. This year the club, sponsored by Mr. George Barford, was under the leadership of Donna Long, Helen McKenna, Margaret Liss, and Brian Bridges.

Orchesis

Orchesis, under the direction of Mrs. Zora Piper, and Miss Miriam Gray, sponsors, and Jan Evans, Sara Doughty, Shirley Truitt, and Delores Stecki, officers, conducted the year's activities, which included an assembly program and a concert in the Spring. The modern dance group presented a composition at the IEA convention in Chicago last summer and traveled to St. Louis in December for a drama-dance symposium.

Blackfriars

Because of "Hell Week," the Spring Show, and the Homecoming Assembly, the Blackfriars are primarily known as a satirical and amusing group. However, this organization has a more serious purpose, that of awarding scholarships to male students each year, plus a donation to the Student Union. During the past year Tom Prather, Jim Agner, Sam Baseler, and Mark Ruby, with the faculty assistance of Mr. Edwin Payne, directed the activities of the fraternity.

Lowell Mason Club

The chant, "I'm a Lowell Mason pledge; please accept me," is familiar to all members, for these words had to be repeated many times during their week of initiation. After the pledge has been accepted, he combines his efforts with the rest of the group to present the annual operetta, which, this year, was under the direction of Jim Wiltz, president. Other officers were Jim Kidoguchi, Delores Preston, Gail Evans, and the faculty advisor, Perry Hackett.

Jim Wiltz, Gail Evans, Jim Kidoguchi, and Delores Preston put Reeta Cowger and Ray Rebuck through initiation paces.

Gamma Theta Upsilon

Besides their monthly meetings, a Homecoming banquet and a spring picnic, the members of this geography fraternity hope to create and administer a loan fund for furthering study in the field of geography. Their meetings are aimed at strengthening student and professional training.

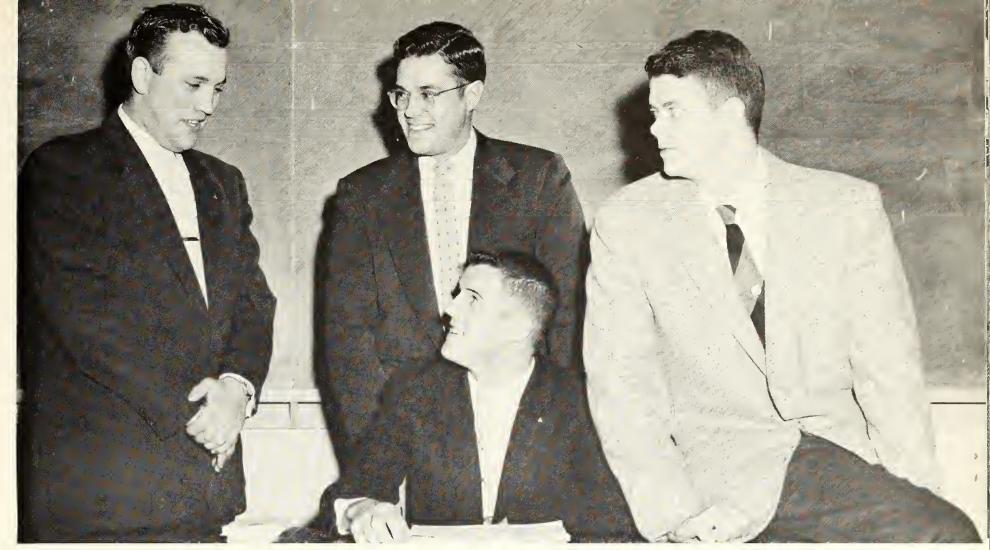

Patricia Watts, president; James Goff, vice-president; Joyce Koets, secretary; and Marian Lauterbach, treasurer, were the officers advised by Dr. Wallace E. McIntyre.

Kappa Mu Epsilon

The purpose of Kappa Mu Epsilon, sponsored by Dr. T. E. Rine, is to promote professional growth and interest in mathematics. The organization sponsored a diversified program. Two traditional parts of the KME program are the Homecoming breakfast and the spring banquet.

A surprising fact concerning a geometric object is explained to Shirley Schwartz, Kathy Gallagher, Frank Rusk, Ed Rittenhouse, and Marilyn Robinson by Mr. Rine, the sponsor.

Jim Haycraft seems to have said something which amused Bob Hardin, Frank Wright and Bob Willey at a meeting of the officers of Alpha Phi Omega.

Alpha Phi Omega

The national service fraternity on campus. One of the requirements for membership is previous membership in the Boy Scouts of America. Two of its functions are to conduct the tours on College Day and to usher at the Entertainment Board presentations.

Officers were F. Wright, president; J. Bower, vice-president, J. Haycraft, secretary; and R. Hardin, treasurer. Mr. Jackson, Dr. L. W. Miller, Dr. C. E. Horton, Dr. A. Watterson, and Dr. R. U. Gooding sponsored the fraternity.

Future Teachers of America

This organization is voted most likely to be seen conducting students on tours around the campus and discussing the teaching profession with student teachers. Sponsors Ruth Huggins and Leo Eastman helped Anthony Arlyle, Mary Torraco, Mary Grady, and Mary Herington plan the Christmas party, dinner meeting, picnic, and birthday banquet commemorating their tenth annual year.

Ginamae Summers, Mary Herington, Mary Ann Grady, Arlyle Anthony and Marie Ikens of the Future Teachers of America recall the history of their organization as they go through their scrapbook.

LaRae Muselman, Shirley Scribner, Bob Abbott, and Miss Speer look over some of the books in the library classroom collection.

Alpha Beta Alpha

Organized to increase interest in libraries and librarianship, this small group (previously known as the Milnerites) was the first in Illinois to become a chapter of Alpha Beta Alpha, an honorary undergraduate library fraternity. The organization promoted a Christmas card sale and sent a CARE book package overseas. Shirley Scribner was president; LaRae Muselman, vice-president; Olivia Chung, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Abbott, historian. The sponsor was Miss Eunice Speer.

YWCA

To promote fellowship among girls of all denominations has been the purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association. The YWCA meetings held in the White Room featured speakers, discussions, and a combined Christmas party and recognition service. Members attended the Seventeenth Quadrennial Conference at Ohio University. Miss Carol Rylander was advisor to the girls.

Jean Schubert, Carol Wheeler, Barbara Snyder and Miss Rylander discuss the minutes of the last meeting in preparation for the next.

Midge Stewart, Marlene Kath, Virginia Stahr, Reverend Albert Glock and Reverend Harold Skillrud listen as Gerald Stemke tells of the order of business.

Lutheran Club

The annual Christmas party, a square dance, and a spring banquet highlighted the year's activities of the Lutheran Club under the sponsorship of Dr. Victor Gimmestad and Dr. Clarence Kurth. Speakers, movies, panels, and open discussions helped the members the second semester to answer the pertinent question, "What is a Lutheran?" Six of these meetings were Lenten services sponsored by the club, open to all students on campus.

Physical Science Club

The Physical Science Club is a departmental organization for which any physical science major or minor may be eligible. An annual chili supper, a picnic, and a tour of the new General Electric plant comprised the major activities of the club. Interest in the meetings was maintained by guest speakers, movies, and student programs. The sponsor was Dr. R. U. Gooding.

Abbie Ackerman and Jack Dickerson watch as Ron Davis prepares a demonstration.

Patricia Nielsen, Ollie Dial, Father Bowman, Lois Dick, and Sonia McElroy meet to discuss plans for a future Canterbury Club meeting.

Canterbury Club

Interesting programs including discussion and an occasional guest speaker highlighted the year's activities for the Canterbury Club. Composed of Episcopalian students interested in a deeper understanding of their faith, the organization is sponsored by Dr. A. W. Watterson and Father Bowman of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. Officers of the club were Ollie Dial, Sonia McElroy, Patricia Nielsen, and Lois Dick.

Newman Club

Discussion and lecture meetings were arranged by the Newman Club for the purpose of fostering the religious, social, and educational life of Roman Catholic students. The annual May Banquet was the main event of the year. Tom Edwards, Helen McKenna, Julia Ortgiesen, Rod Hartnett, Viv Kolodziej, and Marge Maloney headed the organization.

Father O'Brien and Father Sweeney listen to the comments of Julia Ortgiesen, Tom Edwards, Joyce Sager, Vivian Kolodziej, Rita Madsen, Mr. Carlock and Rod Hartnett, officers for the year.

Miss Helen Marshall explains an article in the Christian Science Monitor to Jack Murray, Jackie Cannon, and Andy Purnell.

Christian Science Organization

The Christian Science Organization this year was guided by officers Jack Murray, Jackie Cannon, and Andrew Purnell, and the sponsor, Miss Helen Marshall. Weekly meetings were held to study the Bible and science and health. The purpose of the organization is to unite students of Christian Science in their study of truth.

Intervarsity Christian Fellowship

The Intervarsity Christian Fellowship met weekly for Bible study and discussion. Christmas party, various speakers, and appropriate movies served to stimulate variety and interest in their regular meetings. Each month the group sponsored a student program at the Home Sweet Home Mission in Decatur, Illinois.

Succumbing to the joviality of the occasion during a meeting are Glenna Coddington, Genc Anderson, Jessilyn Burgess, Margaret Hustead, George Huedepohl, Maynard Saxby, Jim Maxey, Art Lampi, Joyce Bloodworth, Joanne Hines, Miss Ruby Martz, and Helena Lampi.

Wesley Foundation

The year's activities of the Wesley Foundation included the annual Christmas party, a chili supper, movies, and religious discussion. The group, which encourages the spiritual life of Methodist students, sent delegates to the Ecumenical Student Conference in Athens, Ohio.

Westminster Fellowship

To promote better understanding of their religious faith, Presbyterian students and their friends become members of the Westminster Fellowship. A weekly dinner precedes the meeting which is held in the Presbyterian Church of Normal. Student leaders in discussions and guest speakers endeavor to acquaint the group with insight and truth. Student minister James Pruyne and Danforth Foundation graduate Jo Culver advise the group.

"U" Club

Promoting school spirit and good fellowship among the men on campus and providing for the social welfare of the entire school is the purpose of the University Club. All men who enter ISNU automatically become members of the club.

The men sponsor the Christmas service, the Sweetheart's Ball, and the Stunt Show as their main projects. They are co-sponsors with Women's League for the orientation week activities, Mother's Day, Dad's Day, Campus Cues and the day by day calendar. An all-male stag and two other dances are held annually. As a special project for the 1955-'56 year, the "U" Club bought new curtains and lights for dances held in the Gym.

Dean Linkins, who founded and has sponsored the "U" Club for 34 years, spent the '55-'56 season as his last as sponsor. He was ably assisted by Duane Houser, president; Leroy Noel, vice-president; Guy Diercouff, secretary; and Dan Hurd, treasurer.

Dean Linkins and his cabinet—Duane Houser, Leroy Noel, Dan Hurd, and Guy Diercouff—look over some pictures and try to decide which are the best of their activities.

Women's League

Women's League is the service organization for all girls of the University. This year it was led by Jane Hoffman, president; Marilyn Jacobs, vice-president; Marilyn McKenna, secretary; and Mary Broomfield, treasurer. Dean Keaton sponsors the organization. This year's activities included direction of the annual Spring Carnival and Dad's Day, held in conjunction with the "U" Club. The Campus Sister Council is made up of a group from Women's League and sponsors the Campus Sister Tea in September. House President's Board and Central Board, which represent off-campus houses, work closely with Women's League.

Agriculture

ISNU's future farm experts spend most of their time at the University Farm, where they gain practical experience in livestock feeding, dairying, and raising poultry. Dr. Clyde Hudelson offers his Agriculture majors such courses as soil conservation, horticulture, and the care of farm machinery, in addition to various other phases of farm management. In accordance with the Smith-Hughes policy, the student of agriculture must complete a year at the University of Illinois in order to complete graduation requirements.

Dr. Hudelson, Daren Cox, and Bob Doenitz appraise the photographs used in a publication which explains and illustrates the modern methods and equipment used on the University Farm.

Art

Color and original design are two characteristics of the Art Department, perhaps the most decorative at ISNU. All of the students get the benefit of the painting, sculpture, and various other crafts taught to the majors, for the department sponsors many exhibits on West Bridge and in Milner Library. Many of the classes, such as jewelry, pottery, and weaving are open to all students, not only those who are majors or minors. Dr. F. Louis Hoover is the head of the department.

> Dr. Hoover offers informative comments to John Eichhorn, Cindy Tindall, and Diana DuBois, as he examines the textile designs created for a future art exhibit.

Audio Visual Education

"If we don't have it, we'll get it," says Dr. Murray Lincoln of the Audio-Visual Education Department.

This is a service agency having a variety of tasks, including many photographic and audiometric accomplishments. The title of the service is not quite adequate as it also does a volume of paper and photographic work for off-campus activities. The signs and bulletins of many campus organizations are printed in this department.

Checking the tag board to learn what audio-visual equipment is in use at the moment are Gerald Weatherford and Dr. Miller.

Biological Science

Test tubes and microscopes are the common tools of majors and minors in biological science. The department, under the direction of Dr. Ernest Lamkey, offers courses in general biology, zoology, botany, anatomy, bacteriology, and other related electives. Laboratory experiments provide the students with opportunities to seek for themselves the truths of science.

> Dr. Lamkey demonstrates the use of the light meter for correct plant growth to Dick Alger, Phil Fredcricks, and Henry Robarts.

Business Education

Housed within the weather-worn stones of Cook Hall, you will find the department of Business Education working with a large variety of courses including accounting, business science and law, economic geography, office procedure, and the old stand-bys, shorthand and typing. Dr. Lewis Toll, head of the department, carefully supervises the curricula of his students as they gain skill in the techniques of teaching business education.

Sue Thurmon and Viola Heyen fulfill necessities prior to registration, which include a discussion with Dr. Toll concerning a program of study for the new

Education and Psychology

As prospective teachers, all students at ISNU are thoroughly familiar with the department of Education and Psychology. Many of the courses in this field, from Introduction to American Public Education in the freshman year, to Philosophy of Education and Student Teaching in the senior year, are required for graduation. The department, headed by Dr. Chris A. De Young, also offers a wide variety of electives which help to prepare students to become better able to meet the problems of the classroom.

> Tom Brigham, Elaine Hess, and Dr. DeYoung exchange ideas and opinions concerning the new junior high school curriculum.

Elementary Education

The department of Elementary Education, which is headed by Miss Helen Nanee, trains prospective teachers in three distinct areas—the primary, intermediate, and upper grade levels. Students in these areas are required to take certain specialized courses which deal specifically with the problems found in their grade levels.

However, because the teacher in the elementary sehool covers so many different subjects, students in all three grade levels are required to take courses which will provide them with a broad general background in the arts and seienees.

Sociograms are a point of interest to Carole Raley, Miss Nanee, and Helen Floyd of the Elementary Education Department.

English

English is perhaps the most versatile department on the ISNU campus, for it not only prepares the English majors and minors in a variety of subjects but also reaches every student in grammar, composition, and literature. The person who specializes in this field receives a well-integrated education through the study of American, English, and ancient literature, in addition to several composition and grammar courses. Dr. Herbert Hiett is the director of the department, which is located in North Hall.

> Proving that humor and advice are equally welcome, Larry Laesch, Delores Perry, and Dr. Hiett meet to prepare class schedules for the coming semester.

Foreign Language

When the customs, the habitat, and the national temper of a foreign people are studied as well as their language, then a foreign language course becomes more interesting and of greater benefit. Consequently, foreign language majors and minors enjoy their classes in this department, which is headed by Miss Jennie A. Whitten. Even elementary majors are increasingly taking a foreign language course as an elective.

Miss Jennie Whitten helps student teachers Jean Mattioli, Maynard Saxby, and Elaine Foster to evaluate text books used in their Latin, French, and Spanish classes.

Geography

If you were to take a trip around the world by plane, would you know in advance just what kinds of land forms you would be passing over? If you were a geography major or minor, chances are you would be quite familiar with the land forms, climate, and economic patterns found on the different parts of the globe.

The ISNU Geography Department is headed by Dr. A. W. Watterson, who maintains an office in North Hall. Also in North Hall you will see the complicated weather instruments and displays that are sponsored by this department.

Industrial Arts

Woodworking, metalworking, printing, drafting, and electricity all make up the Industrial Arts curriculum. Making such projects as jewelry boxes, wrought iron bookstands or tables, blueprints, personalized stationery, and small motors keeps the industrial arts majors and minors busy. The men are required to take one course in each of the subjects and have eight hours in at least three areas before they graduate. Dr. Ray M. Stombaugh, head of the department, works with the men in their preparation for the teaching career.

> Robert Ball asks Dr. Stombaugh a question about the metal lathe used in the Industrial Arts Depart-

Library Science

In recent years, elementary and secondary teachers who combine their major field with a minor or extra courses in Library Science have been much in demand. Accordingly, the ISNU Library Science Department offers courses in children's literature and informational books, and in the processing of library materials. Another course which explains such library functions as finding the appropriate books for the individual needs of the child is offered to guide future teachers. Miss Eleanor Welch, the head of this department, is also the director of the Milner, Metcalf, Special Education, and University High School Libraries.

Mathematics

Dr. C. T. McCormick maintains his office as head of the Mathematics Department in Main 102. Here the programs of math majors and minors originate, are studied, and adjusted.

Courses in mathematics that are offered by the department vary from Arithmetic in Modern Life and Algebra to Differential Calculus and Introduction to the Theory of Equations. Other interesting courses demonstrate the use of the slide rule and the abacus or the sextant, angle mirror, and alidade.

Men's Health and Physical Education

Both physical and mental health, as well as physical skill, are stressed in classes for majors and minors in the Department of Health and Physical Education, which is headed by Dr. Clifford Horton. The potential teachers and coaches are offered helpful courses in kinesiology and in officiating. Special activity classes also provide opportunity for both individual and team sports.

Music

Music majors are instructed in theory, techniques of conducting, and history of music, and are provided with group instruction in voice and instruments. In addition to the regular classes, music students are required to participate in some of the departmental organizations, such as University Choir, Women's Chorus, Men's Glee Club, Concert Band, and Symphony Orchestra. The department, under the direction of Miss Emma Knudson, offers students a major in either vocal or instrumental music.

Physical Science

Do you know what thermodynamics or quantitative analysis means? Ask a Physical Science major. You can usually find one working with test tubes and Bunsen burners in the laboratories of the Felmley Hall of Science. Dr. Ralph U. Gooding, head of this department, advises that majors have thirty-five hours of credit along these lines.

Recording results of a scientific experiment presents a keynote of humor in the laboratory for Paul Gullett, Dr. R. U. Gooding, and Pat Millard.

Social Science

What contribution was made to the world by the Achaeans? What part did economic problems play in the French Revolution? These questions and many others can be easily discussed by students of the Social Science Department, which is headed by Dr. John Kinneman. Although all students at ISNU are required to take certain courses in this department, only social science majors and minors make the more thorough studies of economics, sociology, diplomacy, and community relations.

With election coming in November, perhaps Dr. Kinneman, Cornell Diekemper, Eleanor Mitchell and Doris Miner of the Social Science Department are reviewing the political situation.

Special Education

The Special Education department is made up of six fields — the mentally retarded, physically handicapped, partially sighted and blind, hard of hearing and deaf, speech, and socially maladjusted. During a four-year (and sometimes five-year) curriculum the students become prepared to teach both special education and elementary children. Dr. Rose Parker, head of the department, and Fairchild Hall are well-known throughout the United States in the field of special education.

Caroline Mirring uses equipment necessary for teaching reading to Terry Dowling. Miss Rose Parker, head of the Special Education Department, and Miss Vivian Tasker supervise the work.

Speech

The knowledge of the English alphabet plus the International Phonetic Alphabet is a distinction all speech majors and minors possess. In addition to this information, these students become proficient in the areas of public speaking, discussion and debate, and drama. They also attain a thorough understanding of the physiological and psychological aspects of voice. The Speech Department, headed by Dr. F. L. D. Holmes, is one that reaches all of the students on campus through both scholastic and extra-curricular activities.

Dr. Holmes explains the mechanics and function of the tape recorder to speech majors Sally Brammer and Bob Wilson.

Women's Health and Physical Education

Majors in physical education are proud to claim that they are associated with the second largest physical education department in the Midwest.

Under the direction of Miss Esther French, they are introduced to activities ranging from rhythm skills to kinesiology and back to modern dance and badminton. In addition, they have courses in camp leadership, first aid, and team games.

Virginia Christian, Arlene Urquhart, and Helen Knierim hold a conference with Dr. Esther French during which plans are made for student teaching assignments.

During their final and perhaps most memorable year, the members of the Senior Class elected Larry Efaw, Robert Rockwell, Shirely Romano, and Caroline Mirring as their leaders. Dr. Howard Ivens, sponsor of the class, worked with the officers and the advisory board in planning the business and social activities for 1955-56. Several dances, a senior assembly, and the graduation exercises required hours of concentration and preparation. Success, however, in the realization of their agenda marked the end of a perfect four years.

Larry Efaw indicates a point of humor for Caroline Mirring, Shirley Romano, and Bob Rockwell.

Centennial Class

To assure the Junior Class of a unity and organization of cause, an advisory board was elected early in September in order that plans might be immediately established for the program of the new school year. The purpose of the board was to transact business, arrange social functions, and analyze and help solve problems of the class. Officers were elected from the many candidates by the Junior Class at large and the board members were in turn chosen by these officers and the sponsor of the class, Mr. Edwin Payne.

Acting in behalf of the Junior Class were Bill Muehlhauser, president; Leona Colebar, vice-president; Jodie Luke, secretary; and Jeanne Charlton and Norman Richards, treasurers. Some of the activities for which the Junior Class was responsible were the All-School Dance, a class assembly, a hayride, and the Junior-Senior Prom. Members of the centennial class owe a debt of gratitude to these people who willingly gave time and energy to further the class interests.

Norm Richards, Jeanne Charlton, Bill Muehlhauser, Jodie Luke and Leona Colebar, the Junior Class officers, relax and smile for the photographer.

Second Milers

Sophomore means "wise fool" but that term is definitely not descriptive of the class of '58. The adjective "wise," however, would apply to the body of second year students who planned and sponsored the all school party early in the year and the Sophomore Cotillion given May 5th.

Rod Hartnett, president; Bob Townsend, vice-president; Nancy Seal, secretary; Ardene White, treasurer; and Dr. Leo Yedor, sponsor, guided the members of the sophomore class advisory board. The officers and board served as the policy forming body of the class, planned all sophomore events, and made all decisions concerning the group.

Experiences in leadership and worldly endeavor gained during 1955-56 promises an eventful 1956-57 year for the future Juniors of ISNU.

The Sophomore Cotillion is the object of serious discussion for Bob Townsend, Ardene White, Nancy Seal, and Rod Hartnett.

Newcomers

The first year for the class of '59 gave them an opportunity to establish a host of fine impressions. The earnestness with which they conducted business and social programs resulted in admiration for the "youngsters" of ISNU. From the candidates for officers, Carl Larson, Amy Moss, Clara Swenson, and Gerry Indelicato were chosen. An advisory board was selected to direct and aid in carrying through the class activities. The group planned dances to acquaint students with members of their class and other classes. With their sponsor, Dr. Theodore Sands, the Freshman Class accumulated a long record of accomplishments during the 1955-56 school year.

Two officers of the Freshman Class, Carl Larson, president, and Clara Swenson, secretary, plan a program for the Freshman Closed Party.
